TSAS Copyright Takedown Policy:

The TSAS Virtual Library has been collected for purposes of education and research. TSAS attempts to balance the legal rights of copyright holders and users when providing access to content on its website. In some instances, however, rights status may be difficult or impossible to determine. TSAS recognizes that from time to time material published online may be in breach of copyright, contain sensitive personal data, or include content that is obscene or defamatory. If you are a rights holder and are concerned that you have found material on our website, for which you have not given permission, or which is not covered by a limitation or exception in national law, please contact us in writing stating the following:

1. The full name and current contact information of the requestor.
2. Identification of the material that is claimed to be infringing or to be the subject of infringing activity or which has created the privacy concern. This is the material to be removed or access to which is to be disabled, and information reasonably sufficient to permit the Library to locate the material is required. Please also include the URL in your communication so that we can locate the material quickly.
3. The reason for the request.

Upon receiving the takedown request, TSAS will respond within in five university business days by removing the material in question.

TSAS may consult with UBC’s copyright office on any issues that may arise.
